The Women’s Resource Center and Women United have worked and are currently working with women who live with HIV. The women who self-identify with this virus are bringing awareness to the greater women's community by their consciousness and their commitment to educate those who use our services to be inclusive and supportive by (a) providing information and referral services, (b) organizing support groups (in the initial stages), (c) providing a safe place for those who are infected and their respective families to continue their education at CCSF.

Women who are seros positive have provided leadership in the following organizations, classes, and events in collaboration with Women United and the Women’s Resource Center: The Women 20 class (Her/his/ourstories), the Ourstories Club, the OMSL (Office of Mentoring and Service-Learning) supported Intersecting Identities Conference, Poetry for the People, ICC (Inter Club Council) and Associated Students. By their spoken word, poetry, stories (both written and oral) they play an integral role in Women United and the Women's Resource Center, educating and bringing awareness of the larger HIV community/ies and partners to our staff, WU membership, and all those who use the Women's Resource Center. The Women’s Resource Center and Women United appreciate and are grateful for the leadership roles they play in making us a stronger club, resource center, and community for all women here at CCSF.
